Pointillism - 2022
With the drive to try something new, armed only with enough paint to upset Kilmer and the wrong end of a paintbrush, this pointillism piece is made of approximately 29,000 dots with about 82 hours of work time invested into it. The vibrant colors of acrylic bring the Sorrento coast to life.
As kids, we all must take art in elementary and middle school. I was always one those classes and create things without really thinking of the meaning and ques behind them. Once I got to high school, I put off completing my fine arts s until my junior year as it was the first time I could fit them in my schedule. ck, that was an awful decision on my part. With Drawing I being my first n fun learning the basics of graphite. It was in that class that I to take more art classes. The obvious choice was Drawing II, b ed to pick up a zero-hour class so I'd be able to take uggestion of Mr. Kilmer. During my Drawing I class, Mr. Kilm
