American Cancer Society recognizes the role of school communities in generating support for services

- WHAT: Last year, Northwest Allen County Schools and the community collectively raised more than $71,000 to help people battling cancer, cancer research and support services through the American Cancer Society.
- WHO: Representatives from NACS administration and its schools including Superintendent Chris Himsel; Kathy Dougald, NACS Fighting Cancer Relay For Life event organizer; Ashley Wellman, senior development manager, American Cancer Society and others.
- WHEN: 10:30 a.m., Wednesday, Sept. 15, 2021
- WHERE: Perry Hill Elementary School – near tennis courts
13121 Coldwater Rd.
Fort Wayne, IN 46845
- WHY: Giving back to others and helping people in our own community who have been touched by cancer has caused it to become the district's cause of choice. NACS strives to instill empathy and generosity in students and in the district's culture.
