NACS promotes assistant to advance as next principal while current principal moves to district position

Fort Wayne, Ind. (Monday, April 11, 2022) – Officials from Northwest Allen County Schools tonight announced the approval of Cleve Million, Carroll High School’s next principal. For the past year Million served as an assistant principal at the high school. Million will replace Brandon Bitting, Carroll’s current principal, who accepted the district position of chief operations officer in late January.

“Cleve’s strong background in school counseling and his administrative experiences at Northrop and here will be assets filling the role of principal at Carroll,” said Dr. Yager.

Million will begin his position transition over the next several months. Bitting is expected to begin full-time COO responsibilities by June 8. The assistant principal position is expected to be posted immediately.

“I am humbled and grateful for the opportunity to take on this new role at Carroll,” said Million. “It has been exciting to watch the NACS community grow and evolve. I am excited to work with the dedicated teachers and staff to continue high academic achievement and celebrating the success of all students.”

He served Northrop High School for 17 years in positions including guidance coordinator and assistant principal-curriculum and instruction. Prior to that position, Million worked a year as a guidance counselor for Geyer Middle School in Fort Wayne Community Schools.

Million obtained his Master of Education in marriage and family therapy and school counseling from Indiana University Fort Wayne. He completed his undergraduate studies through Anderson University, Anderson, and DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., and he is currently licensed as a school counselor and building level administrator for grades P-12.
