WHY: Northwest Allen County Schools Transportation, with the help of elementary school administrators, offered a district-wide coloring contest among students in grades kindergarten through 5. The goal was to drive home bus safety messages with students for National School Bus Safety Week which ran Oct. 17-21.

Each day had a theme of the day which was shared during morning announcements at the elementary schools to emphasize different bus safety messages. The awareness week encourages school communities to review bus safety practices among students, parents, teachers, school administrators, motorists and school bus operators.
