

Northwest Allen County Schools

CARROLL MIDDLE SCHOOL'S SPRING
PRODUCTION OF

ANNIE

Assistant Superintendent Gloria Shamanoff reads to students at Hickory Center one last time.

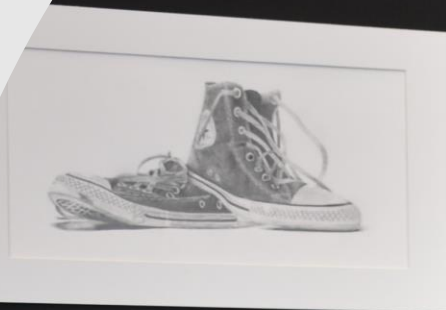

Huntertown Elementary – learning about immigration to the United States. The frowns are because it was scary coming to a new country.

AWARDS
CEREMONY
FOR FINE
ARTS
NIGHT AT CARROLL
HIGH SCHOOL

Tried and True
Graphite - 2021

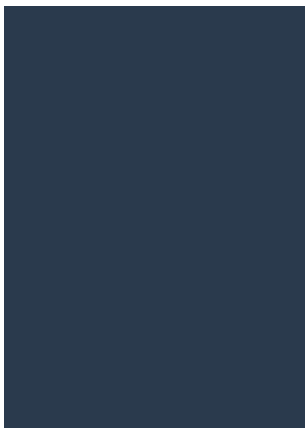

Sorrento
Pointillism - 2022
With the drive to try something new, armed only with enough paint to upset Kilmer and the wrong end of a paintbrush, this pointillism piece is made of approximately 29,000 dots with about 82 hours of work time invested into it. The vibrant colors of acrylic bring the Sorrento coast to life.

Grayce Tapp

As kids, we all must take art in elementary and middle school. I was always one of those kids who took those classes and create things without really thinking of the meaning and techniques behind them. Once I got to high school, I put off completing my fine arts classes until my junior year as it was the first time I could fit them in my schedule. Looking back, that was an awful decision on my part. With Drawing I being my first class, I had such fun learning the basics of graphite. It was in that class that I decided to take more art classes. The obvious choice was Drawing II, but I ended up picking up a zero-hour class so I'd be able to take the suggestion of Mr. Kilmer: During my Drawing I class, Mr. Kilmer suggested that I take the class I am currently in: Fine Arts Connection. He said that students can really test their abilities and try new ideas and mediums. From that day, I knew I wanted to learn and painting I were amazing, as I could've guessed, but it was a special place in my heart. I'd always painted outside and learning the concepts and techniques behind some projects was extremely eye-opening. I was able to try new things I never would've learned if I hadn't made the jump junior year. Many things in this class, not only about art but about life, have stuck with me for a long time. The arts may not always be everyone's cup of tea, but they hold a place in everyone's life.

Grayce Tapp

MACKENZIE GERMANO

Painting 1

THANK YOU FOR WATCHING. FIND THESE NACS
SNAPSHOTS IN TIME AT NACS.K12.IN.US
UNDER NEWS/WHAT'S NEW.

Northwest
Allen County
Schools